West Courtenay Ramble (hiking) return to Reports list

Wed Mar 26, 2014

Leader: Pam Munroe

Co-Leader:

On Tuesday night it looked like this hike might be washed out, however Wednesday the day dawned clear and sunny and so seven women headed out from Bill Moore Park in Courtenay for a 20+ km ramble along the Rotary Trail, through Puntledge Park, the Masters Greenway and onto the pipeline corridor. To shorten that part of the trip we scrambled over the pipeline at a set of conveniently located stairs and then continued on through muddy trails to the west end of Salisbury Road. Back through Masters Greenway, the trails of Morrison Creek Commons, and through the trails behind Arden School. This led us to the Comox Logging Road which we took south to our lunch stop at Creekside Commons. Nice to have a bathroom stop and chairs on the sunny patio. We completed the journey by taking the connector trail to the railway tracks and south on the tracks to and through Millard Piercy Nature Park coming out to the end of the airpark trail on Millard Road. From there we walked north along the airpark route to 19th street and back to Bill Moore Park. Three people had to head for home at Morrison Creek Commons and one left us on the airpark path as we passed right by her home. A lovely day with a good group of people. We also picked up about 10 pounds of garbage and bottles along the route.
