Trip Report

Wya Point, Ucluelet. Adjacent To Pacific Rim Park. (hiking)

return to Reports list

Tue May 22 to Thu May 24, 2012

Leader: Chris Carter

Co-Leader:

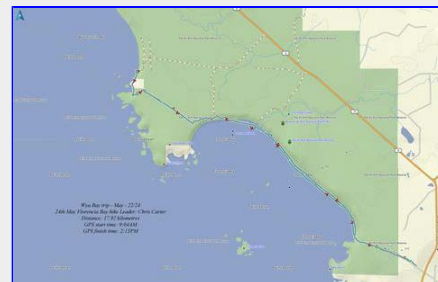

16 hardy hikers braved an "iffy" weather forecast and lucked out with 2 1/2 days of great hiking weather. We experienced a few showers and tested out our rain gear but avoided any real "West Coast" rain. Our first main hike was on the "Wild Pacific Trail" along the outer coastline of the Ucluelet peninsular. On the second day we hiked in the Pacific Rim Park from Willowbrae along Florencia Bay (Wreck Beach) and over the headland to Wickanninish Beach. Just over 16 k return. Several of us tried out the Yurts at Wya Point and had a great "non camping" experience. The yurts are well equipped, heated on demand and share a facility building with hot showers and flush toilets. There are also excellent camping sites at Wya but the facilities are not so luxurious.

Wya Point could be an excellent base for another West Coast expedition hiking other parts of the National Park.
